SENSIBLE TALK

TO THE SUFFRAGETTES

Life, which imparts an immense amount of common sense in the form of apparently trivial talk, has the following to say of the suffragette parade in New York recently and some of the lessons to be drawn therefrom:

"The suffragist ladies had a beautiful parade. Up in the offices on Fifth Avenue before it started it was like an afternoon reception. Lots of ladies, mostly white, but some colored; banners of beauty, and other banners with edifying announcements on them; as good a line of spring hats as has been shown this year, and all styles and sizes of interesting women in great variety of attire."

The shock was less than we expected. After all, as some one has said, there is no violent difference between some suffragists walking on the sidewalk and the same suffragists walking down the middle of the street. The mere fact of women in the mass cannot scare anybody who is used to New York. There were three or four thousand women in the parade, which is about the number that one sees in a subway train coming uptown at six o'clock, but the women in the parade were incomparably a better sight than the women on the subway train. To come uptown on a six o'clock subway train is to be horrified at the way the fluttering masses of girls are jammed into the cars. If you want to be appalled go and see that. But there was nothing appalling about the suffragist parade; plenty of room for every lady; the pavement very clean; the cops on horseback riding ahead; the bands playing "Don't Get Gay with the Girls"; the crowds attentive, appreciative and smiling; everybody polite and admiring. It is many a day since a mile of marchers have been so much admired in New York.

It was just another proof of the entire freedom of American women. If there is any door they wish to open they have only to turn the handle. Nothing is locked up from them. As evidence of public respect for women, the parade was a great success and worth doing. Its bearing on the suffrage was not so clear. Those handsomeness ladies did not seem like an oppressed class protesting against denial of their rights. They seemed much more like the proprietors of the town out to give their dependents a benefit. Now, then, to get back to the eternal verities about votes for women.

Heretofore the man has usually built the house, and he and the woman have lived in it.

Life is not a detail of government, but government is a detail of life. To maintain government is like keeping a roof overhead, under which life can go on. The life that is for the most part in the hands of woman. Is it necessary, as the suffragists marched to persuade us, that with her own hands woman must build and maintain this house she lives in?

If there is a male job it is the job of the structural ironworkers. There is no sign of any invasion of that occupation by women. The office building may be full of women clerks and typewriters, a woman may have planned the arrangement of its rooms, and women may spend its rents, but the building is man built, and stands by virtue of the brains and brute force of man.

And so stands political government. It shelters woman. Inside of its frame all their activities proceed. In its form, and in the alterations that are always making in it, they have an ample, often controlling voice. In the business that is done in it they share, and share and spend the profits of that business. Is it necessary also that they shall swing up on the iron beams and drive the red hot rivets? Is there to be no division of labor, no distinction of duty and employment, between men and women?

That is a question that street parades do not touch. Women have tremendous duties in this world. Life rests heavily upon their courage, their intelligence and their endurance. It is hard to accomplish any considerable thing without their backing. They make most of the decisions that direct the destinies of men. They make the very men themselves, bring them into the world, shape them in their tender years, inspire and steer and cherish them in their maturity, and cheer them in their age. Are women in general out of conceit with their own product and persuaded that it is no longer fit to keep even a roof of government over their heads? If they are, it is because they have neglected their first duty and have not made good enough men. But it seems to us that a very small proportion of them are so dissatisfied, and that ladylike parade down Fifth Avenue tended to confirm that impression."

WILL NOT RATIFY INCOME TAX

Tallahassee, May 24.—The income tax to the federal constitution will fail of ratification at the present session of the Florida legislature. It became practically certain today that the amendment would not be acted upon when the Senate again postponed consideration of it on advice of the special committee which is investigating the legality of the present legislature.

MORE STARS FOR THE FLAG

Washington, May 24.—The joint resolution admitting Arizona and New Mexico to immediate statehood, but withholding approval of the constitutions of both states until the people have voted on certain proposed amendments to them, passed the House of Representatives yesterday by a viva voce vote. No roll call was demanded on the final vote. On a preceding motion to recommit the resolution, made by Republican Leader Mann, thirty-one republicans voted with the democrats, defeating the motion 414 to 57.

The resolution requires Arizona to vote on an amendment removing the recall provision as it applies to judges, and requiring New Mexico to vote on an amendment making its constitution more easily amendable in the future.

Neither state is required to adopt the amendments proposed by Congress. Whether they are approved or rejected by the proposed referendums, the constitutions of the new states will stand finally approved when the respective votes have been taken.

The resolution passed in the form proposed by the democratic majority of the committee on territories.

Mexico City, Mexico, May 24.—It is reported that President Diaz is dying. He is being kept barely alive by oxygen. None are admitted to the palace, except members of Diaz' family.

TARGET HIT BACK

Muskogee, Okla., May 24.—Clarence Henderson, bookkeeper in a bank at Bogus, Okla., is dead, and Edward Bright, son of a prominent real estate man of the same place, will die as the result of mistaking a quart can of nitro glycerine for muddy water.

The young men were hunting when they discovered the can of explosive under a boulder. They placed in on top of a rock and one of them fired into it from a small caliber rifle. Henderson was so badly mangled by the resulting explosion that he died within an hour. Bright's body was cut in more than a hundred places by particles of the can and of the rock on which it stood.

New York, May 24.—Hundreds of bouquets of flowers drifted out with the tide, down the harbor, to the ocean last night, a tribute to the unknown dead among the sailors and marines who lost their lives in naval battles of the American Revolution. Five thousand or more persons in solemn memorial service considered the flowers to the waters of the Hudson, while a detachment of coast artillery, Sons of Veterans of the Revolution, fired a salute over the river.
